Front of House

Entrance areas are a visitor's first and last impression of your organisation and as such need to be a safe, welcoming and professional environment that creates a positive guest experience.

Our role as the front of house security team is there to provide a warm welcome and assist individuals, whilst maintaining the safety and security of the building. Our security team is continually looking for unusual and concerning activities, whilst interacting and helping guests and employees as they arrive and depart - delivering the perfect mix of security and experience.

Gatehouse, Car Parks & Perimeter Security

Our officers provide a visible and proactive form of security located at the main entrance or access points of a facility and provide a wide range of activities which may include:

- Verifying the identity of all individuals and vehicles entering and exiting the premises.
- Performing random or scheduled perimeter patrols
- Monitoring surveillance and other security systems to detect suspicious activity.
- Controlling the flow of traffic by operating gates, barriers, or bollards and directing vehicles to the appropriate areas.
- Responding to emergencies, such as medical incidents or security breaches, and coordinate with emergency services.

Safety Officers

Our safety officers are trained to provide emergency medical and first aid assistance. Their training is often tailored to your operating environment but may typically include:

- Emergency first aid and medical response
- Confined space rescue
- Operating specialist equipment

Events officers

We pride ourselves in delivering safe and enjoyable events, with the visitor experience at the heart of our delivery. We have extensive experience in delivering security for:

- Event Fixtures
- Concerts & Festivals
- Conferences & Exhibitions
- Government & Corporate Events
- Stadium/Venue Security (Year Round)

Our officers are often the first and last experience for visitors and spectators. Therefore, we understand that the impression they create is vital to the overall success of each event. All the little details make the difference, from the way we greet guests and conduct bag searches, to the speed and ease with which visitors are able to both enter and exit the venue.

With this in mind, steward selection and training is at the heart of our service delivery. Stewards have many different responsibilities and are able to undertake a wide variety of roles.

These include:

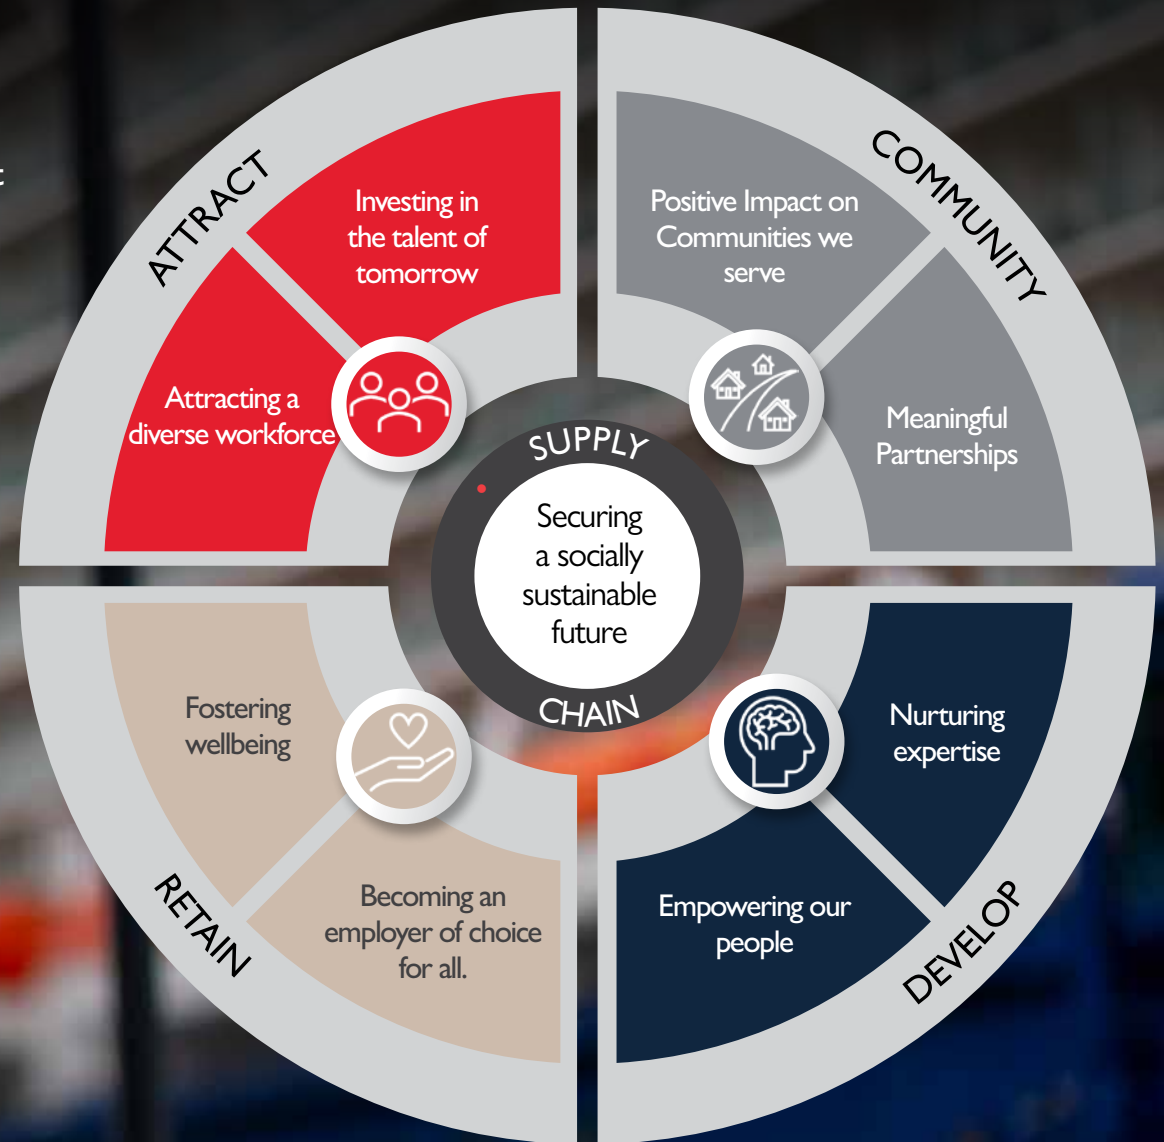

- Delivering a friendly and reassuring security culture
- Ticketing checks and spectator screening at access points
- Highlighting and addressing Health & Safety risks
- Embracing the atmosphere whilst monitoring crowd behaviour
- Managing crowd control by following the crowd management plan
- Car Park Management
- Addressing anti-social behaviour
- Overseeing spectator egress

Our People

Our people are at the heart of everything we do. We work hard to attract, retain and develop the best talent and work actively within the communities we serve.

Whether it is innovative recruitment and diversity programmes, staff engagement or wellbeing or training and development you can be sure that our people programme will ensure your security teams represent you with pride.

Our approach to managing our people is split into pillars and summarised in our people strategy

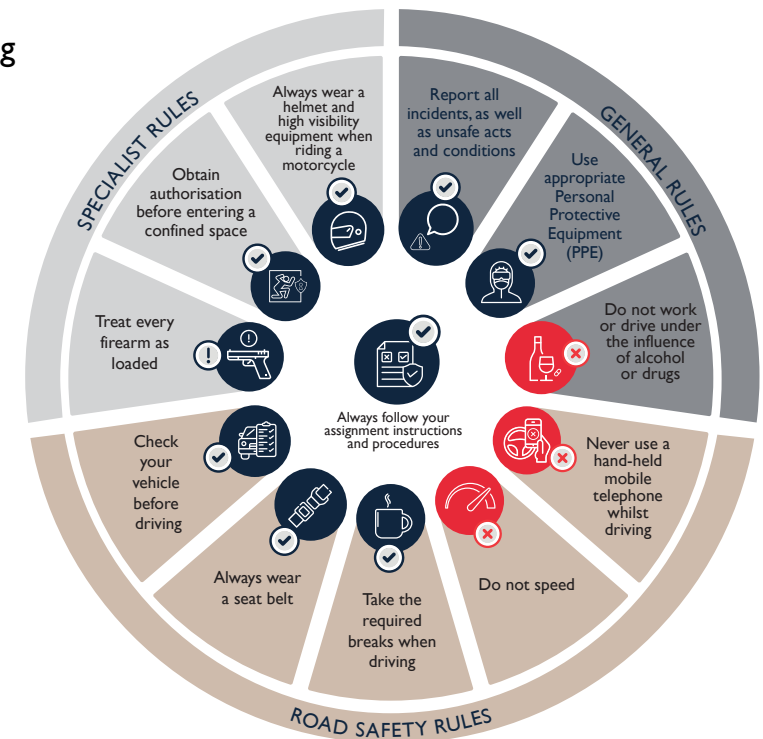

Health and Safety at the Core

We prioritise the highest safety standards to create safe environments.

Our expertise in health and safety empowers employees to lead by example, promoting best practices that safeguard our customers and communities. Given the nature of our work, workplace security and safety are strategic risks. Our top priority is mitigating these risks to ensure our people return home safely each day.

Our approach to health and safety is underpinned by regular communication, training and detailed incident reporting based around our Golden Rules of Safety which are simple and easily understood behaviours that prevent incidents from occurring.
