Reduce risk and inconvenience to employees

Unless a business is a 24/7 operation, there will be a point at which one of your employees will shoulder the responsibility of arriving first and unlocking the property or leaving last to secure the building at the end of the day.

This is the most vulnerable part of the day for your business and for the individual involved who might be alone. Figures show criminals are often opportunistic and see this as a chance to attack.

Even with a back-up, there are times when the staff reliant method breaks down: someone sleeps in, goes on holiday, loses or forgets the key, coupled with the cost of replacements. And what happens when a contractor needs out-of-hours access?

The greatest benefit of our Lock and Unlock service is the removal of risk to your employees but it's far from being the only one.

You can count on us to be there every time to ensure your premises are open for business when you need them to be, and safe and secured when you do not. With nationwide coverage we can provide access to all your sites anywhere in the UK and Ireland. When keys are held in a secure key box at your site, we can offer a fast, reliable and flexible lock and unlock service and help to avoid up to £168,000 in missed annual contractor visits.

How does Lock and Unlock work?

- At opening time we open-up and disable the alarm. At closing time we ensure the building is empty, follow the shut-down procedure, set the alarm and lock the door.
- Our branded vehicles are equipped with a secure, auditable system. Keys are encrypted to maintain absolute security and secrecy.
- Our officers can also assist with your carbon footprint reduction targets with energy-saving measures such as shutting down systems, lights and equipment.
- Alternatively, remote access control gives us the ability to lock and unlock facilities remotely from our control centre. It's a cost-effective service to secure your buildings during and after hours.
- Upon completion of the lock or unlock service, our officers use SMART handheld technology to transfer data into a simple, easy to use portal providing you with evidence of the completion of our activities wherever you are.
